Secretary Of War Surprised By Greeting At St. Paul Depot This Morning.

EVIDENTLY PLEASSED BY RECEPTION

Over Two Hundred Prominent Business And Professional Men Were Waiting When The Train Pulled Into The City.

William H. Taft, secretary of war, stopped across Academy street and when it pulled up to the depot platform many availed themselves of the opportunity to step ahead the car to personally meet Mr. Taft and shake his hand. Genial and pleasant he had a nice word for everyone and told a little story of the Methodist minister who said that a visit from him was better than all the prayers for rain he had ever made because Taft's arrival always brought rain.

When told that Wisconsin was interested in his possible candidacy for President the Secretary said: "You have a presidential aspirant in your

ROOSEVELT HELPS GEORGIA CELEBRATE AT JAMESTOWN

President Makes Two Speeches There This Morning And Afternoon--Great Military Display.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Norfolk, Va., June 10.—The celebration of Georgia day at the Jamestown exposition today attracted the largest crowd that has passed through the turnstiles since the opening. Two addresses by President Roosevelt, a magnificent naval demonstration on Hampton Roads, the presentation of a silver service to the battleship Georgia, a military escort for the President composed of Georgia troops, Virginia cadets and West Point and Annapolis cadets, and a reception to the President by the Georgia commission at "Bulloch Hall," the reproduction of the house at Roswell, Ga., in which President Roosevelt's father was born and married were the chief features of the program, and they combined to make the day one that will in the history of the Jamestown exposition.

The state of Georgia had the center of the stage from the opening to the close of the day's exercises. The presidential party were conveyed to the exposition grounds aboard the magnificent battleship Georgia and next to the President the most prominent figure of the day was Governor Terrell of the Empire state of the South. The Georgia militia and cadets shared honors equal in the military pageant with the federal troops and the well-groomed cadets of the United States military academy. The military parade escorted the President from Discovery Landing to the speaker's stand on Lee Parade, was the spectacular feature of the day and both in the number of men participating and in the branches of the service represented the pageant far eclipsed that of the opening day. The parade was under the command of Gen. Fred D. Grant.

The visitors began to arrive at the exposition early. They came by boat, by trolley and by steam cars, while vehicles of all descriptions were pressed into service to accommodate the residents of the vicinity. The Georgians, wearing distinctive badges, were among the early arrivals. The officers of the Tidewater section sent solicited delegations, while others came on from Washington, Baltimore, Richmond and other cities. To these was added several thousand members of the National Editorial association was on hand in full force.

The waiting thousands, who were killing the early hours of the forenoon by taking in the sights of the exposition and "doing" the Warpath, were apprised of the approach of the President and his party by the distant booming of guns as the ship conveying the President was saluting in passing Fortress Monroe and the lines of foreign and American warships at anchor in the Roads. It was shortly before 11 o'clock that the President stepped ashore at Discovery Landing and was escorted to the scene of the day's ceremonies. Accompanying the chief executive was a distinguished party that included, besides the representatives of the state of Georgia, several members of the President's cabinet and a number of foreign diplomats.

As many thousands as could crowd themselves within seeing and hearing distance filled the parade ground about the reviewing stand. The appearance of Governor Terrell and his staff was the signal for as hearty an ovation as that accorded to the President himself. The ceremonies were opened by President W. N. Mitchell of the Georgia commission, who introduced President Roosevelt. The President delivered one of his characteristic speeches in which he paid glowing tribute to the state which was the home of his maternal ancestors. Following the President's oration he was escorted to the Georgia building, where he was formally received by Governor Terrell. A public reception by the two executives was then in order, followed by the ceremonies incident to the presentation of the silver service to the battleship Georgia.

The silver service was the object of much admiration, it being one of the finest gifts of its kind ever presented to a vessel of the United States navy. The set consists of five pieces, fashioned of purest silver with a lining of gold. The punch bowl was presented by the city of Athens, the centerpiece by the city of Columbus, two silver candlesticks were given by Atlanta and Savannah, and four silver comparts, one each from Brunswick, Athens, Augusta and Albany.

EIGHTH INTERNATIONAL RED CROSS CONFERENCE

Opened In London Today--Wife Of American Admiral Exhibits Her Newly Invented Stretcher.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, June 10.—Delegates representing forty-three nations assembled in London today for the eighth international Red Cross conference. Lord Rothschild, president of the British central committee, delivered an address of welcome, stating that the large and representative attendance afforded fresh evidence of the interest of the signatory governments in humanitarian work.

The delegates from the United States at the conference are Surgeon General O'Reilly of the Army, Medical Director Wise of the navy, Col. Sangre ex-assistant secretary of war, Miss Mabel Boardman of Washington, and Ernest P. Bicknell of Chicago. Canada is represented by Col. J. M. Gibson and Col. G. Sterling Ryerson. Among the subjects to which the conference will devote attention are the following: "Prevention" of the abuse of the Red Cross flag and insignia; experience in international aid in times of war; what aid neutrals can render and what not; utilization of ordinary materials for the relief of the wounded; means of transportation, etc.; the utility of extending such information; place and role of women in time of war; organization and functions of bureaus of prisoners of war.

In connection with the conference there is being held in Earl's Court an exhibition of humanitarian inventions for the transportation of the wounded. Among the exhibits that attracted attention at the opening was the model of a carrier for the removal of disabled soldiers from a battlefield, the invention of Mrs. Chadwick, wife of Admiral Chadwick of the United States navy. Prizes are to be awarded for the most useful of these inventions. The prizes are derived from a fund given for this purpose by the Dowager Empress of Russia.

Latoria Meeting Opens
Cincinnati, O., June 10.—What promises to be the greatest spring meeting in the history of the Latoria Jockey club opened this afternoon. It will continue until July 13. Seldom before has there been such an abundance of high-class horses on hand, and the jockey talent is of the very best. Eleven stake events will be held during the meeting. The principal ones are: Latoria Derby, with this morning and the telephones kept busy so that a goodly number of Janesville's leading citizens were present to give resounding cheers to the big man of Roosevelt's cabinet and listen to a few minutes' extemporaneous speech from the rear end of the parlor car as the train stopped in the city.

Mr. Taft is a big man, but not half as large as pictures would make him appear. His eyes sparkle with fun, he has a pleasing smile and a hand grasp that is firm and friendly.

A word to his secretary as the train drew into the station brought him to the rear platform where he thanked the gentlemen for their reception and said a few nice words about Wisconsin, the state university and prosperity in general.

He hoped the present general prosperity of the country would continue but, hinted that climatic conditions might have something to do with a possible reversal in present conditions. He referred to what Ambassador Bryce of England said referring to the colleges and universities of America, placing them on a par with the country's greatest institutions and closed by again thanking the gentlemen present for their kind reception.

It took him barely three minutes to say what he had to say but he won the hearts of his hearers and the three resounding cheers given him were given with a will that came from the heart. He spoke against the puffing of several switch engines which were not respecters of persons but was heard distinctly by all who were present.

He spoke from the car as it was own state, have you not? I have been gradually forced into my present position by the newspaper men.

"I had picked out another goal for my ambition but the newspaper boys think differently on the subject."

In speaking of Senator John C. Spooner Mr. Taft said: "Senator Spooner's retirement from the senate is a great loss to the nation. It seems too bad that a man who has given the sixteen best years of his life to his nation, who has left his imprint upon every important measure since he came to the senate, should be forced to retire in order to earn a competence for his family. I owe a great deal to Senator Spooner and his retirement from public life is a personal loss to me."

Senator John M. Whitehead also came in for a bit of eulogism from the secretary. Mr. Taft was "Seventy-eight" and knew Whitehead, who was "Seventy-seven." He considers Whitehead a wonderful man and this opinion was endorsed by several newspaper correspondents who are traveling with him who are acquainted with Wisconsin politics.

Among those who were at the depot were: R. M. Bostwick, Jr., J. L. Fisher, Harry Carter, C. C. MacLean, Jesse Barle, William Dougherty, William Bladen, S. M. Smith, M. O. Mount, O. S. Morse, Frank Monat, George Simpson, Charles Putnam, T. S. Nolan, Rev. J. H. Tippet, Rev. J. W. Laughlin, Rev. R. M. Vaughan, Rev. R. C. Denison, Charles Benningway, Cland Hendricks, Frank Jackman, John L. Fletcher, Charles Pierce, Louis Avery, and Michael Hayes.

INDIAN RAISING SIX BLACK FOX KITTENS

Captured Family in Digging for Mother—Has Declined Offer of $150.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Oconto, Wis., June 8.—An old Indian, living in a picturesque hut at Armstrong Creek, is raising a peculiar family of kittens. The redskin chased a large black fox mother into her hole several weeks ago, and in digging her out, ran into a nest of five little kittens, all coal black, a very occurrence. He is now bringing up the kittens by hand. The foxes are playful and not unlike common tabbies. The skin of the black fox is very valuable, and the Indian has refused an offer of $150 for the "family." The mother fox escaped.

 which is about 30 feet long, follows
 the model of the modern dirigible balloons. Instead of a motor, a foot power mechanism is used to drive the propeller, the boy operating it after the fashion of riding a bicycle. Young Dickson remained in the air an hour and apparently had perfect control of the airship, which he directed at will.

OLD SONGS AND NEW

Meetings Continue to Be of Interest to Large Audiences Nightly.

Yesterday Evangelists Ullom and Smith received a personal telegram which we are permitted to reproduce:
 "Muncie, June 9, 5:30 converts to date. Close tonight, arrive Janesville Tuesday. Charles Reign Scoville.
 Tomorrow evening, therefore, a top-notch crowd will doubtless pack the rink to hear the famous evangelist.
 The song service begins at 7:30 o'clock but the people will continue to enter the West Side auditorium after that hour, if there is room. The remark of the Librarian is usually applicable to Scoville's crowds. "The house was full inside and out." At Muncie the meetings were under the auspices of a single church but the auditorium which they rented, seating 2600 people, has been packed to its capacity. The meetings thus far at the rink have been preparatory in character. The saints have to fill up before they can overflow; it takes a good deal of gospel to bring some of them to the overflow point, and it is only the overflow that profits the rest of us.

On Saturday evening Ullom and Smith conducted services at the rink.
 The leader made a requisition on the ministers and one after another in alphabetical order they gave expression to their purposes and hopes for the meetings. Every Saturday the doors will be open and the Saturday night promoters will have a new place to go. But it was last evening that attendance at the meeting reached its high-water mark. All chairs were full, as early as 7:30 seats were at a premium.

The music was a feature. Of course the old ageless songs, the songs that never grow old, were a part of the program, "Onward Christian Soldiers," "Nearer My God to Thee,"
 "I Need Thee Every Hour." If the increased volume of song is an index
 the revival tide is certainly swinging in. There were many new songs also.
 Mr. Smith remarked that the best song in the book was a song whose refrain is "Made me clean, made me clean." A world of aspiration went up on the wings of the plaintive melody.
 Mr. E. E. Van Hook assisted the music leader in the rendition of a song with this refrain, "I am happy in Him."

The remarks of Mr. Ullom centered around the tragic word "Lost." He declared that appreciation of the content of the word had changed his own life and ministry. Not with accusion and arrogation did he wish to speak it but with limitless pity.
 "What I need," said he, "is a baptism of tears." The evangelist ventured a diagnosis of Janesville on this wise:
 "Too many good people going to hell in a palace sleeping car." Saved or lost, one or other is true of every life.
 But even the lost life can be reclaimed.
 I care not who you are nor what you have done Jesus can save you.
 His power to do so is attested by the experience of countless men and women.

Appointments
 There is no meeting tonight. Monday is the ministerial Sabbath. On Tuesday evening at 7:30 Charles Reign
 Scoville will give his first message to Janesville. On Wednesday noon meetings will be arranged at various centers.

JURY AWARD WAS
FOR MORRIS HAIN

Edgerton Man Recovers $265 for Loss of Vehicle—Will Sue for $6,000 for Loss of Wife.

According to the verdict of a Macdon jury Morris Hain, whose wife was killed and vehicle destroyed by a St.
 Paul train near Edgerton about a year ago, is entitled to $265 damages for the loss of the rig and the farm produce with which it was loaded. The question submitted was: "Could the deceased by the exercise of ordinary care have avoided the accident?" and the jurors answered "No." Attorney
 J. A. Clancy for the dealer business moved that the answer be stricken out and the word "No" inserted if the motion is denied he will move to have the verdict set aside and a new trial granted. It is a test case and the action for $6,000 damages for the death of Mrs. Hain is still to be tried.

The junior class gave a reception to the graduating class Thursday evening in Drake's hall. Dainty refreshments were served by Caterer
 Mrs. Ellithorpe, after which dancing and a general good time was enjoyed in until midnight. The juniors did themselves proud and carried the affair through with dignity and precision equal to old experienced hands.
 Rev. Clyde McGee, pastor of the Congregational church, who always keeps abreast of the times in all matters, has purchased a fine stereophone outfit for use in his work with young people's Bible studies and in prayer meeting and missionary work.
 The fireworks committee of the Home Coming association, which is to be held in Clinton July 4, 5 and 6,
 are just closing a contract for $738.65
 for fireworks for the night of the fourth. An expert will be sent out from Milwaukee to superintend the setting off of the grand display and a perfect exhibition is promised.

WONDERFUL TALE
OF A HUGE CHECK

TEXAS MAN CLAIMS TO HAVE RE-CEIVED TEN-THOUSAND DOLLARS.

WHO IS THE LOCAL MAN?

Who Gave the Texas Poet the Money
 or Is It All a Fanciful Story—Local Banks No Nothing.

Below is found a story which came to the Gazette this morning from an Indiana relative to a Janesville man who sent a Texas poet a check for ten thousand dollars in partial payment for a kindness done the donor while visiting in Colorado. The story also goes on to say that the check or draft, the writer uses both terms, was pronounced good and was made out on a Janesville bank. Inquiry at all four of the local banks reveals that no draft for ten thousand has been drawn for any party in Texas and no money relative to a check for the same amount have been answered from any outside bank. The story as received by the Gazette is printed below:

Indianapolis, Ind., June 10.—Harold
 J. Remington, the Texas author, poet and war correspondent who is now lecturing in Indiana, has just received a check for $10,000 from a gentleman who, presumably, resides in Janesville, Wis., this amount of money being so donor states, in payment for assistance rendered him by Mr. Remington in Colorado several years ago. The letter is signed "John J. Smith."
 The letter is the check, but Mr. Remington is inclined to believe that the Wisconsin man has adopted a fictitious name in his correspondence. The letter, which is typewritten on plain paper, is as follows:

"Janesville, Wis., June 6, '07.
 "Harold J. Remington, Esq.,
 "Indianapolis, Ind.
 "Dear Sir and Friend: Enclosed you will find a draft for $10,000 payment for the service you rendered the writer in Colorado in the winter of 1901.
 The financial aid which you so willingly devoted to an unfortunate stranger was a Godsend to me and marked a new era in life for me. You have a big heart and I am happy to say that it is located in the right place. I took this method of showing you that I appreciated your generosity and that I shall always remember with pleasure my meeting with one man who "lives and let live." Do not think that I am overestimating the value of your timely assistance. It would be impossible to do that and this is but a small restitution for your treatment of a stranger in a strange land. You may have forgotten our meeting, but I never will forget it. With best wishes for you in the future, I beg to remain

"Your friend,
 "JOHN J. SMITH."
 Both the letter and draft were dated Janesville, Wis., and the envelope bore the same postmark.
 On opening the letter Mr. Remington remarked that it was "a missive from another crank," but investigation at one of the local banks showed that the check was good for the amount named on its face. It was then that the young author became interested in his unknown correspondent.
 It appears that the bank which will honor the check is aware of the true identity of its donor but the cashier is as much as an Egyptian sphinx in discussing his Wisconsin client.

To your correspondent today Mr.
 Remington made the following statement: "I can't possibly imagine who could have sent me the check. I have given many a poor devil a lift in the west, but none of sufficient sum to merit such a reward as that sent me from Wisconsin. If I can learn who has mailed me the check, I shall return it, otherwise, I shall keep it as a souvenir of the generosity of my unknown friend. I don't care to accept money for doing a man a turn which almost any other man would willingly do if given the opportunity."

"I was in Colorado but a short time in the winter of 1901, but I remember one incident of my western trip that season which may have a bearing on the present problem. I was en route from Colorado to Wyoming to Denver. It was beastly cold and the fireman was working overtime to keep the boilers in the engine from freezing. The passengers had to make the best of the situation. At one of the small stations, a water stop, I should judge, a middle-aged man entered the smoker, where a group of travelers were endeavoring to seek consolation in the Wyoming brand of Havanias. When the train got under motion the conductor came through to collect the fare of the late arrival. I searched his pockets and revealed the fact that his pocketbook was missing.
 He informed the conductor, but the latter had heard too many tales of missing pocketbooks to allow himself to become sympathetic in this instance. He informed the passenger that he would have to put him off at the next station. I overheard the conversation and butted in. That's one of my failings, I guess, but I butted in anyway. The stranger, I believed, was telling the truth and I stated that I had become quite friendly and I learned that the man was from the east. His name, residence and business he kept to himself. Arriving at Denver I gave him a sum of money sufficient to keep the wolf from the door until he could connect with his bank roll. He took my name and address and promised to repay me at some future date. This did not cause me to lose any sleep, for I never expected to hear from him again, but I don't believe I could have slept so well if I had thought that a stranger was roaming the streets of Denver without food or shelter. A poet who lives on nature, might suffice on that diet in beautiful Denver for a week or more, but a good healthy man would find even Denver rather discouraging without the price of food and shelter in his pocket. I left Denver the next day and have neither seen nor heard from the man I met on the Union Pacific train since, unless, perchance, the draft I have received is from
 him. If such is the case, I shall endeavor to locate him and return it."

Mr. Remington would be pleased to hear from the donor of the check if he resides in Janesville or vicinity, and if he will make himself known to the Texas man the latter will forward the check to him as cheerfully as it was received. The editor of this newspaper will furnish Mr. Remington's present address to the donor, in case

 he desires to further communicate with him.

CHARMING WEDDING
AT BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wedding of Miss Virginia Lingle to Howard R. Ruger of This City Is Described.

In the issue of the Bellefonte Watchman of June 7 the following account of the Ruger-Lingle wedding is given that will be interesting to Janesville people.
 "Ruger-Lingle.—One of the most pretentious as well as nicely appointed weddings that has taken place in Bellefonte for some time was that on Wednesday of Miss Virginia Lingle,
 daughter of Hon. and Mrs. W. C. Lingle, of this city, and Howard Roselle Ruger, of Janesville, Pa.
 The ceremony took place at high noon in St. John's Episcopal church, which had been very prettily decorated with ferns and palms, daisies and cut flowers, producing an old gold and white effect. The center aisle was roped off with white silk ribbons, marking the path through which the bride and groom marched to the altar,
 to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin as played by Miss Bradley. The party included the bride-elect escorted by her father, her sister, Mrs. H. W. Todd of Phillipsburg, as maid of honor and Misses Edna and Emma Turnbach, also of Phillipsburg, as bridesmaids, with Harvey S.
 Lingle of Patton, H. W. Todd of Phillipsburg, Fred Montgomery and Harold Lingle of Bellefonte as ushers. J. L.
 Montgomery was master of ceremonies. At the altar the party was met by the bridegroom-elect and his brother, William Ruger, Jr., who acted in the capacity of best man.
 "The simple ring service was used in the ceremony, which was performed by Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead of Pittsburgh, a particular friend of the family, assisted by their old pastor,
 Rev. J. H. Parble of Patton, and Rev.
 Edwin G. Richardson of Bellefonte.
 The bride, who was given away by her father, was most becomingly
 gowned in a dress of white satin, trimmed with Princess lace and made en train. She wore a long-veil of white tulle crowned with ostrich tips
 and caught on the top with a diamond pin, the gift of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was an unusually large cluster of white orchids.
 "The matron of honor wore a dress of old gold, trimmed with two huge white ostrich tips. She carried as bouquet an armful of daisies. The bridesmaids wore white net over white silk, their hair trimmed with daisies
 and roses and carried as bouquets baskets of daisies.
 "Following the ceremony the wedding party returned to the Lingle residence where a most delicious wedding breakfast was served by Cadeer, after which a reception was held until the 4:44 train when Mr. and Mrs. Ruger left on an extended wedding trip.
 "The party included a luncheon up
 the Hudson and a sojourn in the Adirondacks. On their return they will make their home in Bellefonte.
 "As stated above, the bride is the daughter of Hon. and Mrs. W. C. Lingle. She only recently came to Bellefonte with her parents, but has visited here repeatedly and has a host of friends. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ruger of Janesville, Wis. He comes to Bellefonte a stranger but destined to be popular.
 He will assist his father-in-law in the management of his large limestone interests at Selma.

"The guests present from a distance
 included Mr. and Mrs. William Ruger, Jr., Mrs. Sale, Mrs. Ford and Miss
 Ford of Janesville, Wis.; Mrs. G. A.
 Lingle, Miss Carrie Lingle, Mrs.
 Howe, Mrs. Stine, Mr. and Mrs. H.
 W. Todd and Misses Edna and Emma Turnbach, of Phillipsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Lingle, Frank Lingle,
 Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Denlinger, Mrs.
 Martin Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. W. H.
 Sanford, Mrs. Decker, Bruce Meyers
 and Miss Mullen, of Patton; Mrs. J.
 C. Harding of Wadsworth, and Miss Laporte of Tyrone."

Edgerton, June 10.—Word was received here this morning of the death of Wallace W. Brown, cashier of the Tobacco Exchange Bank of this city at the St. Augustine Hospital, Chicago.
 Mr. Brown has been ill for some months and was operated on for gall stones last Friday, never completely rallying from the shock. He was forty-years of age and leaves a widow and three sons and a daughter to mourn his loss. A mother, Mrs. Richard Brown; a brother, P. C. Brown, and a sister, Mrs. L. C. Gettle, survive him.
 The remains will be brought to Edgerton for interment and notice of the funeral will be given later.

Dr. Sheppard, who was operated on last week for appendicitis, is reported as much improved this morning.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a real disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.
 It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop
 in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the cause of the trouble, he brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were possible. Such a stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and slow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tastes or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

VOTES AND CANDIDATES ARE COMING IN FAST

Many New Names Have Been Entered Since Last Saturday, And Many More Will Be During The Next Few Days.

THE GREAT RACE IS IN FULL SWING

The Country Districts Do Not Compete With The City—Each District Has Its Own Separate Prizes.

The balloting has begun. It is expected that several of the candidates will be officially endorsed by their societies or organizations at their next meetings. This would be a move in the right direction. The Gazette will render all assistance possible.

All in all The Gazette is more than pleased with the interest which has already been displayed in the contest, and if there was any doubt, as to the outcome from a popularity standpoint, that question has been answered in the first few days' voting. Again we say, clip the ballots and remember your friends, the candidates, and bring or mail the coupons to The Gazette office.

The following is the standing up to 8 o'clock Saturday evening:

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, June 10, 1867.—Circuit Court.—The case of Laughlin, charged with cutting hose at a fire last winter, is on trial.

Three New Stores.—Mr. Peter Myers has the foundations nearly in for three new stores on Milwaukee street.

Going Ahead.—McChesney & Clark have the frame of their new mill up, and their work is progressing rapidly. Glad to see it.

A Long Sleep.—A man informs us that he had corn in the ground five weeks, before it made its appearance. It is now doing nicely.

The Staff of Life.—While men are commanded not to live upon bread alone, it is nevertheless gratifying to know that flour is four dollars per barrel cheaper in this city than it was one month ago.

New Manufacturing Company.—We understand that a new company is being formed in this city for the manufacture of the Clow reaper. Already the stock has been liberally subscribed, and the purpose is to get into operation some time during the coming fall. Interested parties are looking up a site now.

Slaughter of Dogs.—Somebody who doesn't love dogs has been feeding them with strychnine in the First Ward, the result of which is that quite a number have had their existence curtailed. If there is to be an indiscriminate slaughter of canines, it should be by the authority of the council. It is a dangerous operation to throw strychnine around the streets ad libitum, and it ought not to be done. We are not much friendly to dogs on general principles, but their taking off should be "by authority."

Germans in the United States.

According to conservative estimates, the United States contains 12,000,000 to 13,000,000 inhabitants of German blood. The census of 1900 gives 2,660,900 as born in Germany and over 7,500,000 whose parents were born there.

Metals in Bad Odor.

A German scientist has just declared that every metal has its characteristic odor. Not every one can detect the odor of cold tin, copper or aluminum, but when pieces of such metals are heated to a moderate degree they give off strong smells, distinguishable by anybody. At higher temperatures metals lose all trace of smell, but again give off an odor on being heated after a lapse of several hours in a cold state. Coined silver and gold often have a suspicious taint.

A Great Roast!

Over a ton of Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee is roasted at a time, in a large revolving cylinder, which drops the coffee through heat again and again until each bean is uniformly roasted.

No other coffee is in sufficient demand to afford such scientific and perfect preparation.

The sales of Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee exceed the sales of all other packaged coffees combined, and this scientific roasting, which no other coffee can afford, by its very magnitude, reduces our cost to a minimum, and enables us, with our other advantages, to give better value in Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee than is possible for any one else.

Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee is the cheapest good coffee in the world, and the best of all for you.

ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

OLD PARTY NAMES

In a recent issue of the Wall Street Journal is found the following squib on the old party names:

"Senator Raynor of Maryland says that the division in the ranks of the republican party is even wider than the division in the ranks of the democratic party."

"That there is a sharp division in both parties there can be no doubt. Whether the division is greater in the republican party than in the democratic party is open to question. The fact is that there should be a new alignment of parties in this country. The terms republican and democrat no longer mean what they once meant. In both parties there are conservative and radical factions. The radical republican and the radical democrat correspond more closely than do the radical republican and the conservative republican. If the radical republican and the radical democrat could be got to join forces in one party, and the conservative republican and the conservative democrat in another, there would be two new parties which would really mean something definite and conclusive."

THE EXECUTIVE POWER

This is the day of triumphant executive power. In the federal government President Roosevelt has repeatedly demonstrated his ability to control congress in favor of popular legislation. Gov. Stuart of Pennsylvania has shown how much more powerful the executive of that state is than the legislature. Gov. Hughes of New York has met one defeat, but in everything else he has won a complete triumph, forcing the legislature to do his bidding in all important matters of legislation.

This result, however, is simply due to the fact that the executive has recently more nearly represented popular sentiment than the legislative power. Whenever the legislature becomes more representative than the executive it will regain its authority, and then the executive power will have to take second place. But, as it is, the executive power, plus public opinion, wins.

Dan Coughlin has slipped away from his dear Chicago friends just in time to prevent his being escorted to his old home by a reception committee and presented with a beautiful home in a state institution for a long period.

It will be a strange sight if Kansas does not have another banner wheat crop. The hoboes are watching the reports from that district with anxiety, as it may mean a change in route for the Pacific coast for them.

Richard Croker did not feel hurt at not being invited to attend the King's dinner after winning the Derby. He was amply repaid by getting away with the "money," an old trick of his.

Secretary Taft made his triumphal tour through Wisconsin this morning and stopped at Madison. Janesville people at the St. Paul depot platform caught a glimpse of him.

Armour captured the prize at the London Horse Show and Col. Pabst also takes down a blue ribbon. How about the American invasion of Europe by Americans?

Janesville property-owners who sold their lots this last week demonstrated that Janesville is not a dead town. It is very much alive and open for all sorts of bargains.

Japan starts a war talk. If Japan stops to think a bit they will not be so rash as to invest themselves with more trouble than they can attend to all at once.

It looks foolish for any one within a hundred miles of Jamestown to in-exposition might get mad and steam away and then what would happen to the poor Expo?

The fixing of a date for an outdoor picnic is a hard job just at present and the man who dares the elements for a day's outing must go prepared for wind, rain, sleet or snow.

Philadelphia is still on the map, although referred to slightly as a sleepy town. Once in awhile they wake up and startle the world.

The Thaw trial, the Gould divorce suit and now the Haywood trial, all give food for reflection for the thinking men of the country.

Where could Mr. Shonts have reached the opinion that Roosevelt and Hughes are a bit too radical to suit the average public?

American horseflesh is at a premium. Croker, Armour and Pabst all have shown the old world what it is to have good steeds.

Hungarians are calling for universal suffrage and Francis Joseph, who is an advocate of the simple life, may give it to them.

Every time we have a late spring some one recalls a year forty or fifty years ago that was colder than it is now in June.

Croker will have no difficulty in being elected to Parliament after winning the English Derby with an Irish bred horse.

Advocates of the bareheaded fad have had a severe setback this summer when it came to the spring straw hat trade.

French wine growers do not know what is hurting their trade, but they think it is the chemically prepared stuff.

Doubtless the natives of India are already blaming the great storm and earthquake to the English Government.

If Orchard told the truth the worst stories of crime have not been put in the penny horrors yet.

The public utility law is bothering lots of Wisconsin people just now. Taft was all the rage at Madison today.

PRESS COMMENT

Division of the Spoils.

Milwaukee Journal: Lenroot and Rogers have gone to meet Bob on his bear hunt. They probably want to learn how the bear is to be cut up.

Grievous Disappointment.

Milwaukee News: It seems that Gov. Cummins of Iowa is a candidate for president. And Mr. La Follette thought that Cummins was a friend of the people.

Aye, There's the Rub.

Chicago News: Still, did any one who knew Howard Gould see any reason why the girl should have married him if it was not for a chance to help spend his money?

Simply Impossible.

Milwaukee Journal: If R. M. La Follette makes speeches five hours long as United States senator, it is certain his messages as President of the United States would be too long for anybody to read. That fact alone makes his nomination impossible.

Bob, the Circus Tiger.

Exchange: A circus tiger born at Madison has been named in honor of the senior senator from Wisconsin.

After, of course, the menagerie will be run on the primary election plan.

A Tree or Two For Lo.

Sheboygan Journal: The Stockbridge Indians have won their suit to retain the ownership of timber on their reservation. They want a tree or two that they can climb if civilization approaches too near.

Its Own Morals Below Par.

Milwaukee News: However, there is no occasion for the steel trust to complain that its president was not chorus-girl proof. Its own morals do not conform to the demands of the ten commandments.

So None Need Worry.

Oshkosh Northwestern: The Milwaukee Free Press seems to be wasting considerable good money in hunting up those La Follette endorsements. But probably the Free Press knows what it is doing it for.

None Cared to Interfere.

La Crosse Tribune: John Dietz made a "friendly call" in a neighboring village, and the gentlemen who have been laying for him for two years couldn't find it in their hearts to inject discord into the harmonious occasion.

Panics Quite Unnecessary.

Superior Telegram: The notion that panics run in cycles is the only ground for timidity now in business affairs. There is no necessity for a panic under any conditions and still less for such an experience with cycle regularity.

Wretched New York Weather.

Chicago Record-Herald: It snowed in New York City Sunday, June 2. Chicago has a pretty fair climate after all, if we compare it with the climates of some of the other large cities of America are compelled to get along with.

LOUIS S. PECKHAM DIED THIS MORNING

Former Janesville Boy and President of Iowa Baseball League—Nephew of Dr. St. John.

A special dispatch to the Gazette at eleven o'clock this morning brought news of the death of Dr. Marshalltown, Ia., of Louis S. Peckham, formerly of this city and nephew of Dr. St. John. The latter was called to Mr. Peckham's bedside the later part of last week and a letter from him, received here this morning, stated that the patient, though seriously ill, showed improvement and hopes of his recovery were entertained. When apprised of the death local friends could scarcely believe the fact, having received no notice from the deceased's relatives. Mr. Peckham was born and reared in Janesville, and left here about two decades ago. He was about forty-seven years of age and is survived by a wife and father, J. A. Peckham, of Marshalltown, and a brother, James Peckham, a railroad man in the west.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Won Two Victories

The Janesville All Stars played two games yesterday and were victorious in both. The first ward aggregation was defeated by a score of 5 to 0 and the second ward by 7 to 4. George Hiller and Tom Dee formed the All Star battery. The team is now ready to meet all comers.

Playing with Canton

William Cooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cooley of South Jackson, is playing this year with the Central League team of Canton, Ohio. In the game with Terre Haute yesterday he played excellent ball, securing one hit, one assist and no errors. The game ended: Canton, 2; Terre Haute, 1.

OPERATION TO REMOVE BULLET FROM THIGH OF ERNEST METZINGER

Was Performed by Drs. Chittenden and Edden This Morning—Condition Occasions Some Uneasiness.

Drs. G. G. Chittenden and R. W. Edden performed a successful operation, removing the bullet from a 22-caliber revolver which was accidentally lodged in his thigh while on a car-hunting expedition with a companion at Goose Island a week ago. Though there is no high temperature or other symptom to indicate that infection has set in, the young man has nevertheless been in a semi-stupor for some days past and considerable uneasiness is felt regarding his condition.

No Interest; No Taxes

PERSONAL MENTION.

A. E. Moody of Beloit was here on business today.

Attorney Rood of Beloit was in the city today.

Miss Leach has returned from Milwaukee, where she was bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Kline and Mr. Edwin Smith, who was formerly employed in Holmsworth's Drug Store.

E. J. Smith, Hiram Murdoch and Charles Myhr returned this morning from Lake Kegonsa, where they spent Sunday.

John L. Fisher had business in Oshkosh this morning.

Mrs. George Sale returned from the wedding of her brother, Howard R. Rizer, to Miss Virginia Lingie at Bellefonte, Pennsylvania, Saturday evening.

Pleasant View Addition.

See those beautiful lots on Pleasant street with fine maple shade trees. It is one of the prettiest building spots in city.

Large Now.

Col. Higginson once met two Cambridge boys, not long past their sixth birthdays, and asked them if they had enjoyed their walk and what they had found to talk about. "Oh," answered one, with an air of definitely acquired wisdom, "we've been talking about foolish things we used to think when we were little."

New York's Water Supply.

New York city's water reservoirs hold a sufficient supply to meet the usual needs of the city for 14 weeks.

TRIAL OF ASSAULT ACTION WEDNESDAY

Preliminaries Attracted Large Gallery of Spectators to Municipal Court This Morning.

As the result of an encounter between President Wilson Lane of the Humane Society and Alex. P. Russell, the latter appeared in municipal court this forenoon to answer to a charge of assault and battery. Through his attorney, T. S. Nohm, he waived the reading of the warrant and entered a plea of "not guilty." The trial was set for Wednesday morning, June 12, at 10 o'clock, at which time a jury will be drawn. The taking of evidence will probably begin at 2 p. m. that day. Atty's: William Smith and Charles Pierce represent the prosecution. A throng of spectators, including a goodly representation of ladies, and a large number of witnesses were present in the court-room.

LOCAL LACONICS.

A Baby Boy: Ex-Alderman and Mrs. T. C. Baumann are rejoicing over the arrival at their home Saturday of a 10-pound baby boy.

Spent Sunday at Lake: Prof. and Mrs. E. J. Haumerson, William McNeil, Burns Brewer, and the Misses Lillian and Charlotte Mount spent Sunday at Lake Geneva.

Leo Brownell's New Auto: Leo Brownell and Sam Echlin arrived from Milwaukee yesterday with Mr. Brownell's new Ford runabout. The trip was made without accident or incident.

Anton Hanauka Happy: Anton Hanauka is the proud father of a baby girl, born at Jefferson yesterday.

Mozart Club Rehearsal: The Mozart Club will hold a rehearsal at the hall over Philip Reus' establishment on N. River street this evening.

F. & A. M.: Regular communication of Janesville Lodge No. 55, F. & A. M., at Masonic Temple tonight with work in E. A. degree.

Increased Force at Work: The force of workmen at the new South Janesville yards of the North-Western railway company was increased this morning, new laborers having come from Chicago.

The Club Dance: The second of the series of Mississippi Club dances will be held tomorrow evening at the clubhouse.

SUDDEN DEATH OF FRANK C. COOK

A SHOCK TO ENTIRE COMMUNITY THIS MORNING.

FELL IN A FAINTING SPELL

About Half Past Nine O'clock; and Never Regained Consciousness—
A Veteran Jeweler and Business Man.

Frank C. Cook, veteran jeweler and business man, died suddenly of neuralgia of the heart at his home, 303 Court street, about half past nine o'clock this morning. He had not been in good health for over a year past and nervousness which aggravated his heart trouble was largely responsible for his retirement from business last winter. On Sunday, June 2, while making an effort to start up his automobile between Koshkonong station and Milton, he was tripped and rolled over by the fender. The muscles of his left leg and hip were strained by the accident but no internal injuries resulted. Though still partially confined to his bed, he was so rapidly recovering from the ill-effects of this experience that Dr. R. W. Edden, the attending physician, did not think it necessary to call for a couple of days. Yesterday, however, he and Dr. Chittenden, happening to be together near the Cook residence, dropped in for a friendly visit. They found the patient in excellent spirits and entertaining the hope of getting out again by today.

Mr. Cook got up shortly after nine o'clock this morning and was some steps away from the bed when he was overcome by a fainting spell. His wife heard him fall to the floor and after attempting to resuscitate him, called Dr. Edden by telephone. When the latter arrived he found that the sick man was still in a comatose state and that his pulse was very weak. After he had been lifted and conveyed to the bed it could be seen that he was rapidly sinking and when the administration of a stimulant failed to produce the desired effect, Dr. Edden called for another physician. But less than five minutes elapsed before the dying man breathed his last.

The deceased was born in New York state June 23, 1846, and came to Janesville in 1863. He worked for a time in the jewelry store conducted by Mr. Webb, afterwards senior member of the firm of Webb & Hall, but after a time opened an establishment of his own in the Sherwood drug store stand on Main street. Still later he bought out the Charles Withington place of business on the Corn Exchange square which he continued to occupy for a number of years. About 1880 he built the store on Milwaukee street which he continued to manage until his retirement last winter. He had an interest at one time in a jewelry store conducted by his half-brother, Fred Fellows, in the Hayes block. His fraternal affiliations were with Oriental Lodge No. 22, Knights of Pythias and Janesville Lodge No. 254, P. O. E. He was an upright, public spirited business man and his acquaintances and friendships were nearly as extensive as the city itself. Besides the widow, who was formerly Miss Frances Alden, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. R. J. Fellows and a half sister, Mrs. John Stevens, both of whom reside in Minneapolis; a sister, Mrs. F. C. Sherwood, of Fairbault, Minnesota; and two half-brothers, Fred Fellows of California, and Charles Fellows of Rochester, New York.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Miss Kate Conley

Miss Kate Conley died at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Conley, 302 South River street, Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, having suffered a stroke of paralysis in the morning. Her death came as a surprise to all, as she was in her usual health up to Saturday. Miss Conley was born in Janesville and spent the greater part of her life here. For some years she was in the employ of Archie Reid & Co., and was possessed of many friends. She leaves to mourn her loss three sisters and three brothers—Mrs. John Eddy of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. J. M. Thompson of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. John Doherty of this city; James Conley of this city, and Michael and Thomas of Chicago; also a heart-broken mother, with whom she resided. Funeral services will be held from St. Patrick's church at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Elias Heller.

All that is mortal of Mrs. Elias Heller, late of San Jose, Cal., was tenderly laid to rest in the cemetery at Emerald Grove yesterday. The funeral was held from the Congregational church in the Grove at half past three o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. R. C. Dennison of this city preached the sermon and song services were rendered by Mrs. William Dean and Mrs. John MacArthur. The pallbearers were: Joseph L. Bear, L. M. Nelson, Charles Smith, and A. F. Lee.

Mrs. Ann Murty, a resident of Janesville for more than fifty years, died this morning at four o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. J. Murphy. Mrs. Murphy was eighty years of age. Her death was caused by a paralytic stroke. She is survived by three children, Mrs. C. J. Murphy and Thomas Murty of this city and Joseph Murty of Ridgeway. The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church at nine o'clock Wednesday morning and interment will be in Mt. Olivet.

Mrs. Henry T. Wright. Mrs. Henry T. Wright, widow of the late paymaster of the United States navy, died at her home in New York City yesterday afternoon. Mr. Wright was a brother of Mrs. Edward Ruger and J. T. Wright of this city, and old residents will remember both him and his wife, he having been a Janesville boy and she having visited here.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN SYNOD BRINGING CONVENTION TO END.

CHRISTY HEADS COMMITTEE

Local Divine Prominent in Movement For College—Clerical Men Played Baseball.

Much business of minor importance occupied the time of the English Lutheran Synod of the Northwest today and the convention will probably be brought to a close this afternoon. Questions of improvement in the church hymnals and similar matters were thoroughly discussed and settled.

Educational Committees.
Late Saturday the two committees on education were appointed. That body representing the Eastern conference, which is to confer and act jointly with a committee from the Chicago Synod in regard to the establishment of a college in the Fox River Valley in Illinois, consists of Rev. William Pasavant of Janesville, Rev. H. K. Gebhart of Plateville and E. A. Thompson of Beloit. Mr. Thompson is head of the Thompson Plow Works. The similar committee from the Central conference, which is to act with the Minnesota conference of the Augustana synod, consists of Rev. A. F. Elmquist of Minneapolis, Rev. George F. Schuur of St. Paul, Dr. Traubert of Minneapolis, Rev. A. J. Reichert of Red Wing, Minn., Hon. C. A. Smith of Minneapolis, and E. A. Eckholm of Minneapolis. Mr. Smith is a millionaire and head of the largest lumber company in the northwest.

River Excursion Pleasant.
The river excursion Saturday afternoon, attended by the visiting pastors and lay delegates to the Janesville church proved most delightful. The trip was greatly enjoyed by all and the Eastern and Central conferences crossed bats in a friendly game of ball.

SALE OF LOTS IN LENOX ADDITION

All Records Being Broken by the Rapid Disposal of This New Plot of Land.

The sale of lots in Lenox Addition has broken all records in the real estate history of Janesville. The easy manner of payment and the desirable location of Lenox makes it the most attractive addition ever planned in the city. Quite a number of the buyers of Lenox lots are discounting their contracts and preparing to build at once.

The old McCulloch homestead on the southeast corner of the plat has been rented to one of the lot buyers who will live in it while his new home is being erected. Lenox will be improved rapidly as the location and neighborhood are the best and it is only a moment's walk to the street cars from either end of the addition.

Most of those who have bought in this addition expect to set out shade trees at once which will add much to the already beautiful spot.

Some of the shrewd buyers have given at this early date advance for their bargain and for the man of moderate means a Lenox lot seems to be the ideal form of an absolutely safe investment.

There are only 24 lots yet unsold in the entire addition, and these will undoubtedly be snapped up in a day or two.

Do Not Make a Mistake.

and that is what you will do if you do not see those lots in Pleasant View addition, only one block from the Grant school.

A MASS MEETING OF ALL INTERESTED

EVERY CITIZEN INTERESTED IN A CELEBRATION SHOULD BE PRESENT.

TO DECIDE THE QUESTION

Business Men Appear to Favor a Celebration Here on the Fourth of July.

Every citizen in Janesville interested in a Fourth of July celebration should be present at the city hall assembly room this evening at seven o'clock to fully discuss the holding of a Fourth of July celebration this year. The business men approached on the subject promise their support, both financially and otherwise and general opinion seems to favor the holding of a celebration. There is much work to be done if such a celebration is to be held and a full attendance of those interested is absolutely necessary if the affair is to be a success. Plenty of good hands can be secured and several, notably the F. Atkinson, Juvenile band outfit, which lead the parade two years ago, is holding off on two other engagements until the question of their being wanted in Janesville is decided. They prefer Janesville to any other celebration they are wanted at.

Remember
You have no interest or taxes to pay on lots in Pleasant View Addition until lot is paid for.

MISS ETHEL BATES AND LAVERNE BROOKS

Were Quietly Wedded Yesterday—
Two Notable Nuptial Events on June 25—Other Society Items.

Miss Ethel Bates, daughter of William J. Bates, and Laverne W. Brooks of Tomahawk, Wis., formerly a member of the faculty of the State School for the Blind, were quietly wedded at the home of the bride's father on Racine street yesterday. Rev. J. H. Tippet, pastor of the Carnegie M. E. church, performed the ceremony. The bride is one of the fairest and most popular of Janesville's daughters and the groom enjoys the high esteem of a large circle of friends in this city. After a brief honeymoon trip, the happy couple will make their home in Tomahawk.

Tuesday, June 25, is the date set for two notable weddings in Janesville. Miss Josephine Farnsworth and Arthur Granger will take their vows at the home of the prospective bride on South Jackson street at half past six o'clock in the evening. Miss Ella Sutherland, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Q. O. Sutherland, and Frank McElowney of Hammond, Indiana, will be married at half past eight o'clock in the evening at the Sutherland home on South Second street. Rev. R. C. Denison will officiate at both ceremonies.

Tomorrow morning at eight Miss Elizabeth Marasak will be united in marriage to Maurice A. Dalton at St. Mary's church by Rev. Father Goebel. Miss Anna Marasak of Eau Claire, a sister of the bride, will be bridesmaid, and James Reilly will attend Mr. Dalton as groomsmen. Mr. and Mrs. Dalton will leave on Wednesday for a wedding trip which includes Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Eau Claire.

Miss Josephine Treat was maid of honor at the wedding of Miss Gertrude Post and Frank Nellis at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Kenwood, Saturday evening. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Post of the Kenwood hotel.

Miss Sarah Sutherland entertained a company of friends at her home on St. Lawrence avenue Saturday evening in honor of Miss Ella Sutherland.

Mrs. C. J. Rice was hostess to a company of thirty-five ladies at a card party given at the home on Ruger avenue Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Francis Grant gave a luncheon at her home on Cornelia street Saturday evening.

Marcus C. Bergh, the head of the state banking department, in conversation a few days ago, said: "I believe in advertising not so much what a bank owes as its capital and investments." Our investments it is not practicable for us to advertise. They are very nearly all short time notes, many of them given by your friends and neighbors. Such business is, of course, confidential, and we cannot follow Mr. Bergh's advice in this respect. What we owe, that is our deposits, has increased 50% in the past year and still our capital, surplus, and profits bear a very safe proportion to that account. They are today one-quarter of the total deposits. When $100,000, our shareholders' liability, is added to our own capital invested, the margin of safety in favor of the depositor in this bank is unusually large. We invite your business.

JAPANESE LEADER MAKES WAR THREAT

TANI URGES APPEAL TO ARMS IF DIPLOMACY FAILS.

PLOT AGAINST MINISTRY

Progressives and Japs on Pacific Coast Combine to Insist on Reparation for Attacks in Frisco.

Tokio, June 10.—Viscount Tani, leader of the opposition in the house of peers, and head of the defense of Kumamoto in the Satsuma rebellion, is reported to have said anent the American question:

"The persecution of the Japanese in San Francisco is a most wicked act. Should diplomacy fail to bring about a satisfactory solution the only way open to us is an appeal to arms. Our mind is firmly made up. It is certain that America will yield, for its people are radically commercial in their sentiment."

How much Viscount Tani represents public sentiment it is difficult to estimate at the present time.

Plot to Stir Up Trouble.

Washington, June 10.—That the Japanese of the Pacific coast and the progressives, a political party of Japan, have entered into an alliance which has the earmarks of an international conspiracy, with the overthrow of the present ministry in Japan and the annulment of the clause in the immigration bill excluding Japanese coolie labor from continental United States as the ultimate objects, was learned authoritatively here Sunday.

The preliminary steps in this scheme, it is said, will be to induce the Tokyo government to recall Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador to the United States, and to demand an apology and perhaps an indemnity from this government for the alleged acts of violence against Japanese subjects residing in San Francisco.

Committee Was in Washington.

These facts became known Sunday for the first time when it was learned that T. Takahashi, representative of the Seattle Japanese society; O. Noda, representative of the San Francisco Japanese society, and K. Kawakami, staff representative of the Yozoru (daily newspaper) of Tokyo, came to Washington on April 21 and remained until May 12, during which time they were negotiating with the Japanese ambassador looking to the annulment of the Japanese immigration limitation law.

This delegation failed in its purpose and it is stated, after charging Ambassador Aoki with treachery to the Japanese of the Pacific coast and with misrepresenting conditions to his home government, they telegraphed to Ootaka Yamaoka, the personal representative of Count Okuma, who was awaiting their report in Seattle, with the request that he communicate with the anti-administration leaders in Tokyo.

Messrs. Takahashi, Noda and Kawakami had an interview with Assistant Secretary of State Bacon on May 8. They then telegraphed Yamaoka that they were dissatisfied with the attitude of the state department and the Japanese embassy and urged the necessity of carrying the fight to Japan.

Making Trouble in Tokio.

Acting upon this suggestion Yamaoka sailed for Japan on May 14 on the steamship Aki, and it was pointed out Sunday the renewal of the anti-American agitation in the Japanese press has begun since his arrival in Tokyo on May 28. It is also believed here that he prompted the deputations of progressives to call on Foreign Minister Hayashi for an explanation of the government's "apparent inaction and want of efficiency in the presence of the grave diplomatic questions with the United States."

The report which Yamaoka carried to the elder statesmen is further believed here is responsible for the attitude of the opposition newspapers in urging the concentration of Japanese national efforts toward the settlement of the San Francisco question by forcing an apology from this government for the alleged insults growing out of the school question and the recent attack on the Japanese restaurants.

Dies While in Bathing.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 10.—W. S. Rosenberger, whose home, according to papers found in his pockets, is at South Hatfield, Pa., was seized with sudden illness while bathing in the plunge at Bimini bath Saturday. Without making any outcry he sank under the water, where he was found dead a moment later. Death was not due to drowning, but to some unknown illness.

Passenger Train Is Derailed.

Pueblo, Col., June 10.—Missouri Pacific passenger No. 2, east-bound, leaving Pueblo at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, left the tracks at Diston, 103 miles east of here. The entire train with the exception of the sleeper was derailed. Officials here say that no passengers were killed and none seriously injured.

Two Young Girls Drown.

Belvidere, Ill., June 10.—Minnie Haag and Delphia Koerring, each about 16 years old, were drowned Sunday afternoon in Kishwaukee river.

Where is Delia Wang? Addicks has not been mentioned as a favorite son.

PRESIDENT SAILS FOR SOUTH GOES TO JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION FOR GEORGIA DAY.

He Will Also Address National Editorial Association—Will Move to Oyster Bay Wednesday.

Washington, June 10.—President Roosevelt and his party left the Washington navy yard shortly after four o'clock Sunday afternoon aboard the converted yacht Mayflower for the Jamestown exposition, where the president will deliver an address at the dedication of the Georgia state building and before the National Editorial association.

The presidential party is scheduled to reach Hampton roads at eight o'clock Monday morning and will leave at five o'clock in the afternoon on the return trip to Washington, arriving here early Tuesday morning.

In addition to the president and Mrs. Roosevelt, those in the official party were Admiral and Mrs. Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. La Farge, of New York city; Miss Hagner, Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary, and Assistant Secretary Latta. The party left the White House shortly before three o'clock for the navy yard pier. A large crowd assembled at the navy yard to see the presidential departure. The arrival at the navy yard was announced by a bugle call and a detachment of marines was drawn up on the wharf. As the president ascended the gangplank, the band aboard the vessel played "The Star Spangled Banner" and the president's flag was unfurled at the masthead.

It was more than an hour after schedule time before the vessel was loosed from her moorings, and the president and his guests, standing on the deck of the Mayflower and on a number of occasions waved greetings to the passing steamers and small craft met coming up the river.

When the Mayflower reaches Hampton roads early Monday morning the president will receive on board the vessel Gov. Joseph M. Terrell, of Georgia, and W. N. Mitchell, president of the Georgia state committee. Secretary of the Navy Metcalf and party will then transfer from the Dolphin to the Mayflower. The program already made public maps out a busy day for the president at the exposition, including a review of the international fleet in Hampton roads, delivery of the Georgia day address in the morning, and the address before the National Editorial association in the afternoon, several receptions, etc.

Upon his return to this city the president will dispose of urgent mat-

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

No skin disease can exist without an underlying cause, and in most instances that cause is either a humor in the blood or an excess of fiery acids in this vital fluid. These humors and acids get into the blood, generally because of an inactive and sluggish condition of those members whose duty it is to collect and carry off the waste and refuse of the body. This unhealthy matter is left in the system to sour and ferment, and soon the circulation becomes charged with the acid poison. The blood, in its effort to rid itself of this foreign matter, begins to throw off the humors and acids through the pores and glands of the skin. These coming in contact with the delicate tissues and fibers with which the skin is so abundantly supplied produces irritation and inflammation on the surface, and Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, or some other troublesome and disfiguring skin disease is the result. External applications, while they soothe the itching, and are beneficial in keeping the skin clean, can never cure skin affections, because they do not reach the blood where the real trouble is located. A thorough cleansing of the blood is the only permanent cure for skin diseases. S. S. S., the greatest of all blood purifiers, is the best treatment. It cures by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the circulation so that the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased by the exuding acid matter, is nourished and soothed by a cooling, healthy stream of blood. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, removes the foreign matter and thereby permanently cures every form of skin trouble. Do not expect to cure a blood disease with local applications alone, but begin the use of S. S. S., and when you have removed the cause the skin will be free from disease. Special book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Let that await his attention and on Wednesday will leave with Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary Loeb and members of the White House staff for Oyster Bay for the summer.

Better Worth Knowing.
Long before the popularity of ju-jitsu, writes a metropolitan preacher, in the Homiletic Review, "I learned, what every minister ought to know, how to put a disorderly man out of the room. But a better thing to know is how to put an evil thought out of the heart."

Where?
"Where do you women put your money?" exclaimed a minister in a Woodward avenue church last Sunday night, during a plea for foreign missions. And the smiles that passed over the faces of the congregation showed that the men knew the answer.—Detroit Free Press.

Microphone as Fire Damp Detector.
The fire damp detector of M. Hardy, a Frenchman, is an ingenious application of the microphone. Two pipes of equal pitch, one in the mine and the other above ground, are sounded simultaneously, and the sound waves impinge on microphones connected in series with a telephone. If both pipes are in pure air, a clear note is heard in the telephone. If the pipes are in air of different density, beats are heard, and these give warning of the presence of fire damp in the mine.

A MAKER OF HISTORY

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM.

Copyright, 1905, 1906, by LITT LE, BROWN and COMPANY.

"Sir," he said respectfully, "without some proof of Russia's falsity I cannot see how in honor we can depart from our treaty obligations with her to the extent of signing an agreement with her putative enemy. England must fight her own battle, and God help her!"

"And you?" M. Grisson asked, turning to the third man.

"I agree," was the regretful answer. "If this treacherous scheme is carried out I believe that France will be faced with the greatest crisis she has known in history. Even then I dare not suggest that we count discretion by breaking an alliance with a friend in distress."

"You are right, gentlemen," M. Grisson said, with a sigh. "We must tell Lord Rothgill that our relations with his country must remain unfettered."

Again the telephone bell rang. M. Grisson listened, and replied with a sudden return to his old briskness of manner.

"It is young De Bergillac," he announced. "He has been to England in search of that missing page of the treaty. I have told them to show him in."

The vicomte entered, paler than ever from recent travel and deeply humiliated from the fact that there was a snail upon his collar which he had no time to remove. He presented a paper to M. Grisson and bowed. The premier spread it out upon the table, and the faces of the three men as they read became a study. M. Grisson rang the bell.

"M. le Duc de Bergillac and a young English gentleman," he told the attendant, "are in my private retiring room. Desire their presence."

The servant withdrew. The three men looked at one another.

"If this is genuine," the younger murmured.

"It is the Russian official paper," his vis-a-vis declared, holding it up to the light.

Then the Duc de Bergillac and Guy Poynton were ushered in. M. Grisson rose to his feet.

"M. Poynton," he said, "we have all three heard your story as to what you witnessed in the forests of Posen."

It is part of your allegation that a page of writing from the private car which you were watching was blown to your feet and that you picked it up and brought it to Paris with you. Look at this sheet of paper carefully. Tell me if it is the one."

Guy glanced at it for a moment and handed it back.

"It is certainly the one," he answered. "If you look at the back you will see my initials there and the date."

M. Grisson turned it over quickly. The two other men looked over his shoulder, and one of them gave a little exclamation. The initials and date were there.

Then M. Grisson turned once more to Guy. He was not a tall man, but he had dignity, and his presence was impressive. He spoke very slowly.

"M. Guy Poynton," he said, "it is not often that so great an issue—the very destinies of two great countries must rest upon the simple and uncorroborated story of one man. Yet that is the position in which we stand today. Do not think that you are being treated with distrust. I speak to you not on behalf of myself, but for the millions of human beings whose welfare is my care and for those other millions of your own countrymen whose interests must be yours. I ask you solemnly, is this story of yours word for word a true one?"

Guy looked him in the face resolutely and answered without hesitation.

"On my honor as an Englishman," he declared, "it is true!"

"No," she answered. "Wasn't it because he was your friend?"

He shook his head.

"It is his affair, not mine," he said, with a sigh. "Ask him some day."

The marquise swept into the room as he passed out, an impression of white ermine and laces and perfume.

"Another of your English lovers, ma belle?" she asked.

"Scarcely that," Phyllis answered. "He is a very old friend, and he was rather hard to get rid of."

"I think," the marquise said, "you would get rid of all very willingly for the sake of one, eh?"

The marquise stared insolently into the girl's face. Phyllis only laughed.

"One is usually considered the ideal number—in our country," she remarked demurely.

"But the one?" the marquise continued. "He would not be one of these cold, heavy countrymen of yours, no? You have learned better perhaps over here?"

"I have not had very much opportunity over here, have I, to amend my ideals?" she asked. "I think the only two Frenchmen I have met are the marquis and that languid young man with the green tie, the Vicomte de Bergillac, wasn't it?"

The marquise watched her charge closely.

"Well," she said, "he is 'comme il faut' is he not? You find him more elegant, more chic, than your Englishmen, eh?"

Phyllis shook her head regretfully.

"He is twenty-three," the marquise declared.

Phyllis laughed softly.

"Well," she said, "I do not think that I shall amend my ideals for the sake of the Vicomte de Bergillac."

"Tell me child," she said. "You mean, then, that of the two—your English Sir George Duncombe and Henri—that

M. Grisson held out his hand. "Thank you," he said.

The three men were again alone. The man who controlled the destinies of France dipped his pen in the ink.

"Gentlemen," he said, "do you agree with me that I shall sign this draft?"

"We do," they both answered.

The president signed his name. Then he turned the handle of the telephone.

"You can show Lord Rothgill in," he ordered.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

IT was perhaps as well for Andrew Pelham that he could not see Phyllis look as she entered the room. An English gentleman, she had been told, was waiting to see her, and she had thought of no one but Duncombe. It was true that she had sent him away, but only an hour ago the marquis had told her that her emancipation was close at hand. He, too, might have had a hint. The little smile, however, died away from her lips as she saw who it was who waited for her with such manifest impatience.

"You, Andrew?" she exclaimed in amazement. "Why, however did you find me out?"

He took both her hands in his. The look upon his face was transfiguring.

"At last! At last!" he exclaimed. "Never mind how I found you out! Tell me, what does it all mean? Are you here of your own free will?"

"Absolutely!" she answered. "It was you at Runtun?"

"Yes."

"Under a false name—with a man who committed robbery?"

She shrugged her shoulders a little wearily.

"My dear Andrew," she said, "I will admit that I have been doing all manner of incomprehensible things. I couldn't explain everything. It would take too long. What I did I did for Guy's sake and of my own free will. It will be all over in a day or two now, and we shall be coming back to Raynesworth. Then I will tell you tales of our adventures which will make your hair stand on end."

"It isn't true about Guy, then?" she exclaimed.

She hesitated for a moment.

"Andrew," she said, "I cannot tell you anything. It must sound rather horrid of me, but I cannot help it. I want you to go away. In a day or two I will write."

"If I must," he said reluctantly. "I will go away, but not to worry about you—that is impossible. You seem to be surrounded by all the medieval terrors which confronted the emancipation of princesses in our fairy books. Only a short time ago Duncombe implored me to follow his example and leave you and Paris alone. The detective whom I brought with me has been shadowed ever since we left Paris. Last night he left me for a few hours, and this morning comes a note from the hospital. He is lying there with the back of his head beaten in—garroters, of course, the police say, looking for plunder. How can you ask me to be easy in my mind about you?"

She smiled reassuringly.

"No harm will come to me here. I can promise you," she said. "It is you who run the most risk if you only know it. Sir George Duncombe gave you the best advice when he tried to get you to return to England."

"I cannot leave Lloyd now until he has recovered," Andrew answered.

"Tell me, Phyllis, has Duncombe found you out? Has he been here?"

"Yes," she answered. "I sent him away—as I am doing you."

"Has he ever told you?" Andrew asked, "why he was willing in the first instance to come to Paris in search of you?"

"No," she answered. "Wasn't it because he was your friend?"

He shook his head.

"It is his affair, not mine," he said, with a sigh. "Ask him some day."

The marquise swept into the room as he passed out, an impression of white ermine and laces and perfume.

"Another of your English lovers, ma belle?" she asked.

"Scarcely that," Phyllis answered. "He is a very old friend, and he was rather hard to get rid of."

"I think," the marquise said, "you would get rid of all very willingly for the sake of one, eh?"

The marquise stared insolently into the girl's face. Phyllis only laughed.

"One is usually considered the ideal number—in our country," she remarked demurely.

"But the one?" the marquise continued. "He would not be one of these cold, heavy countrymen of yours, no? You have learned better perhaps over here?"

"I have not had very much opportunity over here, have I, to amend my ideals?" she asked. "I think the only two Frenchmen I have met are the marquis and that languid young man with the green tie, the Vicomte de Bergillac, wasn't it?"

"Tell me child," she said. "You mean, then, that of the two—your English Sir George Duncombe and Henri—that you would prefer Sir George?"

Phyllis looked at her with twinkling eyes.

"You would really like to know?" she asked.

"Yes."

"Sir George Duncombe—infinity."

The marquise seemed to have recovered her good spirits.

"Come, little one," she said, "you lose color in the house. I will take you for a drive."

Andrew, conscious that he was being followed, sat down outside a cafe on his way homeward and bade his guide leave him for a little time. Instantly there was the soft rustle of feminine skirts by his side, and a woman seated herself on the next chair.

"Monsieur has not been up to the Cafe Montmartre lately?"

Pelham turned his head. It was the young lady from Vienna.

"No," he answered. "I have not been there since I had the pleasure of seeing mademoiselle."

"Monsieur has discovered all that he wanted to know?"

He nodded a little wearily.

"Yes, I think so."

She drew her chair quite close to his. The sable of her turban hat almost brushed his cheek, and the perfume of the violets at her bosom was strong in his nostrils.

"Monsieur has seen the young lady?"

"I have seen her," he answered.

"Monsieur is indebted to me," she said softly. "For some information. Let me ask him one question. Is it true, this story in the newspapers, of the finding of this young man's body? Is M. Guy Poynton really dead?"

"I know no more than we all read in the newspapers," he answered.

"His sister spoke of him as dead?" she asked.

"I cannot discuss this matter with you, mademoiselle," he answered.

"Monsieur is ungrateful," she declared, with a little grimace. "It is only that which I desire to know. He was such a beau garçon, that young Englishman! You will tell me that?"

She whispered.

He shook his head.

"Mademoiselle will excuse me," he said. "I am going to take a carriage to my hotel."

"It is on the way to leave me at my rooms, if you will be so kind," she suggested, laying her hand upon his arm.

"Mademoiselle will excuse me," he answered, turning away. "Good afternoon."

Mademoiselle also took a carriage and drove to a large house at the top of the Champs Elysees.

He looked up as she entered.

of the Champs Elysees. She was at once admitted and passed with the air of one familiar with the place into a small room at the back of the house, where a man was sitting at a table writing. He looked up as she entered.

"Well?"

Proof of Power.

The man who is worthy of being a leader of men will never complain of the stupidity of his helpers, of the ingratitude of mankind nor of the inappreciation of the public. These things are all a part of the great game of life and to meet them and not go down before them in discouragement and defeat is the final proof of power. —Elbert Hubbard.

Size of the Appendix.

The size of the appendix varies according to age and to persons. Its length averages from three to three and a half inches. The appendix of the man is slightly larger than that of the woman.

Drums Used for Centuries.

The Ancient Romans used hand drums in their religious dances, and more than a thousand years ago other nations used them to give signals in war.

MODERN FLORA CIGAR

Nothing brings true contentment like the soothing influence of a good cigar.

Modern Flora Cigars will please you. They are made of an especially choice stock, well conditioned and hand-made.

There are eight sizes and shapes to choose from, and each gives a rich full-flavored smoke. A forty years' reputation back of the Modern Flora Cigars insures unvarying excellence.

DRUG-STORE "SKI" MINUS THE LABELS

Three Bottles of it Were Confiscated
by the Police Yesterday—Five Drunks in Court.

Fred Murphy pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness in municipal court this morning and his trial was set for this afternoon. George Hills was fined $3 and costs with the alternative of a jail sentence. William Mosher was given five days in jail with a fine of $5 and costs or 12 additional days. John Jackson was allowed to choose between $2 and costs or five days. Thomas Doherty was fined $2 and costs but the case was adjourned one week. Peter Lanihan was given four days in jail. No fines were paid. Three flasks of drug-store whiskey, from which the labels had been carefully removed, were confiscated by the police.

MILWAUKEE STREET PAVING MATTER UP

Again Tonight at the Regular Meeting of the City Council—Other Business in Prospect.

At the regular meeting of the city council this evening the question of the proposed brick-paving on the East Milwaukee street slope, which was referred to the highway committee, will probably be definitely settled. There will be hearings also with regard to the proposed paving of the city hall and Lincoln school alleys. Kate Richter's notice of damage from a recent storm at the Five Points, the monthly reports, and other business will occupy the attention of the City Fathers.

SOME FEATURES OF HUMPTY DUMPTY GOOD

Fair-Sized Audiences Attended the Two Performances at the Myers on Saturday.

The "Humpty Dumpty" trick pantomime performance at the Myers theatre Saturday afternoon and evening gave, fair satisfaction, to moderate sized audiences. The three Lester brothers, acrobats and equilibrists, were easily the star performers, their work ranking with the best. Willard Brothers had some good hand-juggling specialties and Johnnie McDonald in the name part was good from an acrobatic standpoint. The dramatic work was passable.

WILLIAM DOOLEY TO BE ORDAINED TUESDAY

Will Conduct His First Mass at Edgerton on June 18—Is a Son of Stephen Dooley of Porter.

William Dooley, son of Stephen Dooley of Porter and nephew of W. T. Dooley of this city, will be ordained to the Catholic priesthood in St. Paul tomorrow. He will celebrate his first mass at Edgerton on June 18. His father and his sister, Miss Catharine Dooley, have gone to St. Paul to attend the ceremony which will be conducted by Archbishop Ireland.

JANESVILLE CONTRACTING FIRM WILL BUILD ARAM LIBRARY AT DELAVAN

Stewart & Hager Secured Contract For $14,459—A Summers & Son Were Bidders.

Stewart & Hager of this city have been awarded the contract for building the new Aram library at Delavan. Their bid was the lowest submitted, being $14,459 and a reduction of $409 was made, the plans and specifications having been altered in conference with the library commission. The structure will be 70 feet 2 inches by 39 feet two inches and will be prettily located on a large lot. Work is to be completed by December 15. L. S. Wagner of Monroe was second lowest bidder and A. Summers & Son of Janesville were third with a figure of $15,245.

Good Advice.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 10.—There was a large attendance today at the opening of the annual convention of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor. The session will continue through the greater part of the week.

Reports of the officers show a considerable growth in membership during the past twelve months. Much interest is manifested in the election of officers. Thomas Van Lear of Minneapolis and J. P. Walsh of St. Paul are

TELEGRAPHERS SEEK TO AVOID A STRIKE

National Executive Board of Union
Meets to Take Final Action on Demands.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, June 10.—The national executive board of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America met here today to take final action in regard to the demands made upon the Western Union Telegraph company.

Wednesday will be the regular meeting day of the directors of the telegraph company and unless satisfactory concessions are then announced a strike of the 20,000 telegraphers in the United States and Canada appears inevitable. Strong pressure is being brought to bear on both sides and it is hoped that the conflict may be avoided. The principal demands of the men are for an eight-hour day, the abolition of the sliding scale of wages, and the reinstatement of discharged union telegraphers in New York, Louisville, Nashville, Rochester and other cities. The national executive board will present a statement of the grievances to the directors of the company. An ultimatum will be presented only as a last resort and after all efforts to reach a satisfactory basis of agreement have failed.

Masons Meet in Tacoma
Tacoma, Wash., June 10.—Members of the various branches of the Masonic fraternity in Washington will be much in evidence here this week. The meeting of the Grand Commandery Knights Templar today will be followed by the state meetings of the Grand Lodge F. & A. M., the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star, the Grand Chapter R. A. M., the Order of High Priests, and the Grand Council R. & S. M.
